

Expand Your Talent

Internship (Various Options)

Age of Artists - Learning from creative disciplines for better outcomes in business and society

Age of Artists gGmbH is a non-for-profit Consultancy, Education Provider and Research Institute that focuses on the transfer of practices and approaches from Art into other disciplines in order to make a contribution to resolving societal issues, help solve business problems and support individuals in acquiring relevant skills for the future.

We are convinced that creative thinking and action provides answers to complex problems. The skills, competencies, methods of problem framing and emotional perceptions that artists use help us to understand, clarify, shape and change the far-reaching problems of our time – for people, organizations and global society. Age of Artists contributes in three distinct areas:

1. Challenges in a global society of individual people: making progress with “unsolvable” problems
2. Future of organizations and leadership - new ways of doing business with a particular focus on creativity and sustainable innovation
3. People competences of the future and artful living with a particular focus on transversal or meta skills such as reflecting, problem solving and group creation

Our Offer

We offer you to contribute to a demanding subject with great potential. You will immerse yourself into an individual and collective learning experience at the intersection of disciplines on a global scale. We look for you anywhere as long as you are truly engaged and eager to perform on a high level. Your work can be, at least to a large extent, performed remotely. Your exact job title and tasks will be defined jointly in line with your interests, skills and our most urgent needs.

Mandatory competences

- Likes us, you are curious, passionate and eager to learn. “If it’s to be it’s up to me” resonates with you.
- You enjoy getting into and focusing on a subject independently but you also like to teamwork and exchange with others. Individual “flow” and collective “fun” matter to you.
- You have excellent English language skills, potentially in another language too.
- You are able to make complex things easy - by talking, writing about it or by graphically facilitating it.
- You have at least basic administration skills (using software like MS Office, Online Collaboration Tools, Social Media,

Special Skills (Nobody can do them all but you should at least cover 2-3 of them):

- You enjoy engaging with others and you communicate well.
- You are good in setting up networks and you like to sell.
- You have expertise in researching and writing articles, blogs and papers.
- You are good in collecting, structuring and composing tools and methods.
- You have experience in education, developing learning modules, and learning curricula.
- You are good in engaging with media representatives and with the public, for instance through social media or at events.
- You have expertise in graphic design, illustration and/or infographic creation.
- You have experience in web technologies and app programming.
- You have passion for and experience in establishing great user experiences.
- You know how to create and edit digital, audio and video content.

Your Application

Please send your application to: contact@ageofartists.org

More information: www.ageofartists.org